About the Initiative

The Rescue Educational Initiative is a volunteer-led educational initiative that aims to support high school students in the Gaza Strip and help them continue their education and make up for the learning they have missed due to exceptional circumstances.

The initiative brings together volunteer teachers, specialists, and academics to provide free educational lessons, academic revision sessions, and exam preparation support.

We believe that every student deserves a real opportunity to learn, and that supporting education today means investing in Gaza's future.

The First Phase

The first phase aims to support 160 high school students over four months.

The planned activities include:

- Providing free educational lessons and revision sessions.
- Supporting students in core subjects, including Arabic, English, and Mathematics.
- Organizing study groups according to students' levels and learning needs.
- Assessing students' initial academic levels and monitoring their progress.
- Conducting regular tests and assessments to measure learning progress.
- Providing the educational materials and resources needed to support learning.

The educational activities will be delivered by volunteer teachers and specialists who will not receive salaries from the project budget.

- Cover the costs of learning spaces, equipment, and educational materials.
- Meet essential operating costs, including electricity, internet, printing, and transportation.
- Help students prepare for their examinations and continue their education.
